DECREES

Art. 1

Subject

The public selection procedure, based on qualifications and an interview, for conferral of 1 (one) 12-month research grant for the carrying out of research activities at the school and for the research project indicated below, is now open:

SCHOOL OF PHARMACEUTICAL SCIENCES AND HEALTH PRODUCTS

Research Project Title: “Machine learning for the recognition of vibrational spectra and electrical signals associated with pathogens and volatile organic compounds”

Description of the Project: The research project consists of applying machine learning for the rapid recognition and quantification of the absorption spectra and analytes of pathogens or volatile organic compounds (VOCs), through comparison with reference spectra obtained from the laboratories of the PRIN-PNRR 2022 project “UEFA - Ultrasensitive detection of vocs and pAthogens”. Spectroscopic investigations provide very complex spectra with multiple peaks and structures. Absorption peaks associated with different chemical structures and their vibrations overlap, making unambiguous identification difficult. Implementing a device designed to identify a pathogen such as the SARS, SARS-2 and MERS viruses or a volatile organic compound requires a sophisticated automatic recognition algorithm. We plan to use several machine learning techniques to recognize pathogens and VOCs from the analysis of their spectra for TeraHz/Infrared frequencies.
